

LUCERNE FESTIVAL

Easter Festival | 17 – 25 March 2018

Bernard Haitink Master Class in Conducting 21 – 23 March 2018

Dear Applicants,

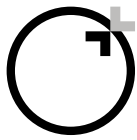

From Mozart through Brahms to Debussy: the works and composers that Bernard Haitink has selected for his public master class during the 2018 Easter Festival in Lucerne (which marks his eighth season of these classes) are ones he has returned to throughout his life. He has conducted them many times, always seeking out something fresh and more profound in his interpretations. The eight people who are chosen as active participants in the master class will benefit enormously from Haitink's insights and from his wealth of experience.

And they will be presented with a wide variety of challenges as they stand on the podium to lead the Festival Strings Lucerne. Debussy's Images demand a delicate feeling for timbre, while with Mozart what is called for are clear ideas of how to phrase the music lines.

Since the beginnings of the Festival and the first master classes by such legendary conductors as Ernest Ansermet, Herbert von Karajan, and Rafael Kubelík, it has been a central mission of LUCERNE FESTIVAL to initiate dialogue and to serve as a place where musicians across the generations can benefit from mutual exchange.

LUCERNE FESTIVAL is grateful to Bernard Haitink and the Festival Strings Lucerne for their commitment.
